

Mage Tower Rules

Prior to Match Start

1. Two Strixhaven mascots are placed on 5ft diameter pedestals, 50ft high in the air. A coin flip will be used to determine which team may select their mascot first, this team is considered “The Attackers”, the team which loses the coin flip is considered “The Defenders”.
2. The two pedestals must begin play on a grass, sand, or clay field exactly 150ft apart from one another. The pedestals need not remain in their initial position during a round of play, but must return to these initial positions prior to the start of a subsequent round of play.
3. A round of play does not begin until “The Attackers” move. A Defender who moves prior to the start of play will earn a foul and the field will be reset prior to that foul.
4. The mascots will remain on their pedestals until removed from their respective platform, at which point they will do anything and everything in their power to return to their pedestal.
5. A single match between two teams will consist of 3, 5, 7, or 9 rounds of play, decided by the match referees prior the start of the match. Once this number is decided, it cannot be changed.
6. The team having won a majority of rounds of play will be named the victor of the match; this may happen before all rounds have been played.

During a Round of Play

1. To win a round of play, a team must return both their own mascot as well as the opposing team’s mascot to their own pedestal. (Ex: If both the Attacker’s mascot and Defender’s mascot are on the Attacker’s pedestal, the Attackers will win the current round of play.)
2. The use of magic will be limited to what the individual mages are capable of casting, capped at a maximum of 5th level.
3. All magical items will be removed from the field of play unless an exception has been determined for each individual item prior to the start of a round of play.
4. The field itself will be enchanted to give each player and referee a standardized flying speed of 30 ft/6 seconds (5 ft/second); this speed need not remain at its initial value if changed through a spell or some other power, but must be reset to the standardize speed prior to the start of a round of play.
5. Physical contact in this sport is to be expected, referees will not intervene until a student has been harmed to loss of consciousness.
6. The casting of spells with the intention to cause direct harm to a player, referee, announcer, or other individual person or group of persons is strictly prohibited. Failure to comply will result in a foul on the offending player and the field will be reset to its state prior to the foul.

Stage Hazards

1. Stage hazards may present themselves in one of two forms, “Field Hazards” and “Object Hazards”.
 - a) Field Hazard: A modification to the physical field of play itself, such as a change in terrain, weather, flora, fauna, etc. Ex: During a round of play, a blizzard is added to the field.
 - b) Object Hazards: An object determined prior to the start of a round of play, whose purpose is to cast a spell or cause a similar effect, regardless of the user’s casting abilities. Ex: Knocker imbued with a “Dispel Magic” spell.
2. Stage hazards are considered separate entities from the players, referees, announcers, or any other person or groups of persons; therefore if a hazard would cause a situation resulting in a foul, no foul will be assigned as no player committed the foul themselves.
3. Stage hazards may or may not have magical spells or effects associated with them. If the hazard does have a spell-like property to it, the power of that spell shall not exceed 5th level.
4. Players are permitted to modify and use any and all stage hazards at their own discretion during a round of play.
